

Executive digest

From the Executive Coaching Centre

Dr Iain McCormick enables senior executives to experience fulfilment in their work life and he develops high-performance teams that people love to be part of.

www.executivecoachingcentre.com

Is your workplace a savvy collaborative network – test it!

Shawn Callahan, Mark Schenk and Nancy White in their paper Building a Collaborative Workplace have some interesting questions:

1. Does the organisation actively support the use of collaborative network technologies such as blogs and wikis?
2. Are senior leaders actually using network collaboration technologies such as Slack?
3. Can people recount stories of how they found information using your collaborative workplace technologies that made a significant contribution to their work?
4. Are more than half the organisation bookmarking and tagging web pages?
5. Are new communities have formed based on the realisation that people were interested in similar topics?

If your organisation can answer Yes five times you are in collaboration nirvana, if there are no Yes scores you are in collaboration hell!

Services

- Teams Two-year high performance senior team development
- Leaders Leadership programmes directly related to organisational strategy
Tailor-made individualized intensive learning programmes
- Alliances Comprehensive culture development to foster collaboration

In summary: technology is providing a great set of new tools for organisations to collaborate. How well are you doing?